DORA FAYE BREWER

In the early morning hours of Thursday, January 26th, 2012 fire took a special little girl from our community. A 7-year-old autistic girl died in a mobile-home fire on Amos Baker Road in Sand Gap on Thursday, January 26th, 2012 after escaping her mother's grasp and hiding in a closet in her bedroom in the burning structure, according to a fire official. The girl, Dora Brewer, "was scared and escaped from her mother's arms" as the mother tried to get Dora out, said Lonnie Madden, chief of the Sand Gap Volunteer Fire Department. Flames and smoke kept the girl's mother from reaching her, Madden said. Dora was badly burned and died in the trailer, officials said. The fire happened early Thursday and Firefighters were called out at 4:40 a.m., Madden said. See FIRE, page A-3

Republicans File Lawsuit Challenging Redistricting Plan

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

Redistricting is required and mandatory every 10 years to conform to population changes in the U.S. Census. The Kentucky General Assembly is responsible for redistricting. Although not required by state statute, each chamber is expected to prepare its own redistricting plan. These plans are then proposed as bill and passed like ordinary legislation. As such, the Governor of Kentucky may veto any redistricting plan.

Each time politics seem to play an inherent part of the re- See LAWSUIT, page A-3

ROSE RESCHEDULED

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

On January 30th, 2012 the case against District #3 Magistrate Doug Rose, 46, was addressed in the Eastern District London US Court. The court called for a re-arraignment scheduled for February 29th, 2012. According to the U.S. District Court Clerks Office (Eastern District - London), Rose is facing charges of assaulting /resisting/ impeding/ officer/employees. Re-arraignment is used when there is a change of plea and/or a change in the charges.

Rose appeared in the local court last September (2011) to address charges of 4th degree Domestic Violence and Criminal Trespass after he allegedly entered Sand Gap Post Office, the workplace of his wife, and assaulted her. Rose was caught on video throwing soda across the counter onto his wife, then jumping across the counter, pulling his wife's hair and scratching her. Rose was arrested as he left the post office.

Two earlier arrests in Jackson County saw Rose charged with Public Intoxication/Controlled Substance. Rose pled guilty to misdemeanor charges in those two cases and was fined $25 for each offense plus court costs. Misdemeanors are relatively minor charges and do not disqualify one from holding a public office. However, if Rose is found guilty of a felony offense(s) at the end of the month he could be removed from his office as Magistrate.

Jackson County Public Library News

Hello!

Welcome to the first library newsletter. This newsletter is an attempt to keep the public informed of all activities and services that take place at the library. It is also a result of the many public survey cards returned with comments.

The first big change that will be taking place is that the library will be open on Saturdays from 9 am to 5 pm beginning February 4, 2012; so, come on down and check us out.

Some of you may have noticed that we are the proud new owners of a brand new bookmobile. Our bookmobile driver, Louise Smith, is thrilled to have more space for books and bookmobile patrons now have a better way of entering the bookmobile-there is a new step and handrails to hold onto. Also, the old warehouse behind the library is being torn down to make more room for parking-something that was also mentioned several times on the survey. The progress has been slow due to weather; it's difficult to work in rain, snow, and mud. The safety of those who are doing the demolition is very important to the library and working in the weather we've had would not be safe. The demolition should be done soon given a few good days of weather. We ask that you be patient with us as we begin to make more space for parking.

Over the next few months, we will be making plans for more programming. We are in the process of forming an adult reading club, a teen advisory board for teen programs, children's programs, computer and e-book classes and a workshop on genealogy.

As we attempt to put these programs in place, we will be making announcements in the paper, WWAG, Channel 9 and flyers.

The library director and staff look forward to these exciting new changes and the chance to better serve the citizens of Jackson County.

For more information on library hours etc, call 287-8113.

There will be a meeting on February 23rd for the Struttin' Gobblers NWTF Chapter everyone welcome. If interested in becoming an officer or planning for the 2012 banquet for the local National Wild Turkey Federation chapter please call 606-438-7145 for more information on the upcoming meeting.

Horse Owners/Operators Needed for Kentucky Equine Survey

A looming deadline is near for all horsemen in Kentucky: February 17. This is the last day when Kentucky horse owners can provide their name and contact information for sample surveys that will estimate the number of horses in Kentucky by county, breed and use. The Kentucky Equine Survey happens this year, and the survey team hopes to receive at least 17,000 names and addresses for the survey.

Kentucky proclaims itself "Horse Capital of the World," yet it has been 35 years since there was an accurate count of the total number of equine in the state. All horse, pony, mule, and/or donkey owners and operators in the state are urged to participate in this upcoming survey.

This important information will become available as the University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, Kentucky Horse Council, and National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) conduct a statewide equine study beginning in the summer of 2012. Results include a county-level estimate of the number of all breeds of horses, ponies, donkeys, and mules, and their uses, as well as the economic impact of equine-related activity across Kentucky.

In order to ensure that each breed and discipline is accurately represented, NASS needs a complete list of horse owners and horse operation owners across the state. Horsemen are being asked to help build this list by sending their contact information directly to NASS. NASS protects this data, and no other agency, public or private, can access any individual's information. This means the submitted information will not be used anywhere else or shared with any other organization, including those leading the survey. The NASS confidentiality pledge can be found at www.nass.usda.gov.

Horse and facility owners, please send your name, address, and phone number to nass-ky@nass.usda.gov and put "Kentucky Equine Survey" in the subject line. Or you can go to www.kentuckyhorse.org/KES-names/ and complete the form, which will be sent directly to NASS.

AGAIN, THE DEADLINE FOR THIS INFORMATION IS FEBRUARY 17, 2012.

With everyone's help and participation, we will know by early 2013 how many horses there are in Kentucky, by type, use, and county, and what the overall economic impact is to the Commonwealth. This information will be used to strengthen the industry and provide a benchmark for Kentucky's agricultural economy and its signature equine industry.

For more information on the project, please visit: <https://www2.ca.uky.edu/equine/kyequinesurvey>.

Dear Jackson Countian:

I would like to introduce myself. My name is Patricia "Teresa" Dean and I am a candidate for Jackson County Circuit Court Clerk. I am the daughter of the late Raymon and Ethel Winstead Moore. I am the wife of Jerry Dean (who is enjoying his retirement and hobby; researching Jackson County Cemeteries). We have four sons; Steven and William Truett and Charlie and David Dean, eight grandchildren, and two great grandchildren with one more on the way. I am 57 years old and I have been a Jackson County resident all my life. I have been an active member of Birch Lick Baptist Church for 11 years. I take pride in our county and would like to make a difference here.

I am experienced and very capable of being your circuit clerk, passing the mandatory circuit clerks test with one of the highest scores in the state. My experience includes 21 years as a deputy clerk in the Jackson County Circuit Clerks office. For 3 years I worked with the Administrative Office of the Courts as a Field Service Representative. In this position, I was assigned several counties where I would fill in for circuit clerks on vacation, assist with office procedures, and train the staff on new systems implemented by the court. I worked with Pretrial Services for one year. In this position I learned the "ins and outs" of the jail system, details about bonds, and worked closely with clerks and judges. During the last 15 months, I have worked with the Attorney Generals office on the successful rollout of the eWarrants program. I have had the privilege of visiting 110 counties across the state. During my stint with the Administrative Office of the Courts and the Kentucky Attorney Generals Office, I have been able to grasp new ideas in which I will bring to your circuit clerks office.

As a candidate for Jackson Circuit Court Clerk, I will not make promises I cannot keep. I do want to reassure you that I am here for you (the citizens of Jackson County), and I promise to do everything I can to help you. I will be a working clerk who is on the job everyday working beside my deputies and judges to make sure the daily operations of the court system run smoothly. I will see that the Circuit Clerk's office is ran in a honest and efficient manner. I will be available to serve you at all times, whether it is at the office or by my cell phone number listed below on nights and weekends. I will support the implementation of any new programs or technology that can benefit our county. I will expand office hours one night a week to allow for renewal of your drivers license. I will run the office with experience, honesty, respect and kindness. Making your experience as easy and helpful as possible.

The Circuit Clerks Office is YOUR office and I will be there to serve you. Please feel free to contact me day or night with your questions, comments, concerns or suggestions. I look forward to talking with you over the next few months.

On election day, Tuesday May 22, please go out and vote for me, Patricia "Teresa" Dean, for Jackson County Circuit Court Clerk. Thank you for your support.

FIRE

From the front

Dora’s mother, Mary Miller, and Dora’s older sister, Margie Woods, escaped with Woods’ 2-month-old daughter, Brooklyn. In an effort to save the baby it had to be thrown from the burning building into the rain. The infant was given CPR and along with Woods they were taken to the University of Kentucky Chandler Hospital. The baby has been released but Woods still remains in the hospital in critical condition.

State police were investigating the cause of the fire and have not released any information. The family heated the small, single-wide mobile home with a wood stove.

The fire started in the front of the trailer, where the living room and a bedroom were. The family said smoke detectors woke them up, Madden said.

Bobby Byrd, who lives next door in a camper trailer, was the first to notify the emergency responders. By the time he got his shoes on and got outside, the front of Miller’s mobile home was engulfed with flames, Byrd said. He raced down the hill in his pickup to a nearby convenience store on U.S. 421 to call 911.

Twenty-five to thirty firefighters from three departments responded to the fire, Madden said, but it was too late to save Dora. Dora was a special little girl and had sensory processing issues. Williams said counselors from the school district and Cumberland River Comprehensive Care came to the school Thursday to help students and staff members. Staff members were “really crushed” by her death, Williams said. Her instructional aide, Dreama Durham said, “Dora was autistic but she was smart.” Williams assembled students one grade at a time to tell them Dora had died and gave them a chance to ask questions. As one little girl in kindergarten left the assembly, she stopped and asked, “Mr. Williams, is Dora really dead?” “That was really a hard moment for me,” Williams said.

Dora’s funeral was held on Monday, January 30th, 2012 (see obit A-4). The community has taken the loss of this little girl very hard. Dakota Durham, JCHS freshman, has spearheaded an effort to bring in donations by creating a Facebook website titled “Help Dora’s Family!”. This effort has generated responses from across the country with promises for help. Approximately $200 have been donated by students and staff at the JCHS. The Sand Gap Christian Church has donated the use of one of their rooms to store goods and clothing. Sand Gap Elementary is also accepting donations.

Dakota’s web site states, “As everyone of you probably know, Dora Faye Brewer passed away today in a house fire. You might have seen it on the news. Her family has no money, no clothes, they have nothing. Sand Gap School is accepting donations for the family. Every penny goes to Dora’s family. The address to the school is P.O. Box 320 Sand Gap, KY 40481. If you write a check, write it to Sand Gap School, and put Dora’s Family on the memo! 1 dollar from a few people would add up, and help. If you can’t donate, keep them in your prayers. Clothing Needs: Baby Girl – Size 2 in diapers and size 3 month. Margie – Pants size 16, XL Shirt, Shoe size 10-11. Mary – Pants size 9-10, M shirt, Shoe size 7 ½ - 8.”

LAWSUIT

From the front

districting process. On Thursday, January 26th, 2012 House Republicans filed a lawsuit (privately funded) in Franklin Circuit Court to challenge a redrawing of state House districts that Gov. Steve Beshear had earlier signed into law (January 20th, 2012). On Monday a Senate Democrat, Kathy Stein of Lexington, was also allowed to intervene. The suit would affect House Bill 1 in its entirety, which also redrew boundaries for state Senate and Supreme Court districts.

The lawsuit claims that the current redistricting law is unconstitutional because it divides more counties than necessary. The House plan split 28 counties and 246 precincts. However, only 22 counties have populations that exceed the roughly 43,000 people that each district must contain. A GOP proposal considered and rejected would have split 24 counties and 10 precincts.

The lawsuit also contends that the redistricting law violates the constitutional principle of “one person, one vote.” In addition the Republicans also noted irregular boundaries in the map. For example, Jackson County and McCreary County are connected in the 89th district by a jagged strip of land that bisects Laurel County.

The signature filing deadline for congressional and state legislative candidates is January 31st, 2012. Franklin Circuit Judge Phillip Shepherd indicated in a hearing on Monday, January 30th, 2012 that he will rule by Tuesday afternoon (January 31st, 2012) on whether or not to delay the filing deadline for state House and Senate seats. The January 31 deadline for filing is followed by a May 22 primary.

The General Assembly has already delayed the filing deadline for congressional races a week. Lawmakers have been unable to agree on a plan to redraw Kentucky’s six districts for the U.S. House.

State Representative Marie Rader has expressed her concerns writing, “Our leadership and I stood ready to work side by side with those across the aisle to draft a redistricting plan that would be fair and equitable to all Kentuckians. But now their actions have created a terse and contentious atmosphere and could endanger any work we still need to do to improve our Commonwealth.”

Senator

Robert Stivers’ Frankfort Report

We are now a quarter way through session. Bills are flowing through the committee process and arriving on the Senate floor for consideration before the entire chamber.

Three bills won passage this week and will now head to the House of Representatives. Senate Bill 55 allows for interstate mutual aid agreements among first-responders and other emergency response personnel. That is to say, that if an emergency occurs near local or state borders, emergency personnel can respond regardless of their home base.

We had two education bills. Senate Bill 24 would require children to be 5 years old prior to August 1 of the year they begin kindergarten. The measure would, however, allow parents to petition local school boards for early admission. There is some debate whether children are emotionally mature enough to enter kindergarten when school begins in August. This bill adds structure so that parents will have guidelines but still be able to decide for their own children. Senate Bill 64 is a bill supported by the School Board Association and other education groups to increase the integrity of the assessment testing process. It would make it unlawful for any school employee to provide any assistance either before or after, in terms of providing or altering answers, to students during the assessment testing process. The vast majority of school employees are dedicated and honest but unfortunately, we’ve had a few bad actors involved in modifying test scores which threatens the scores of all of our kids. If passed by the House, both these bills would take effect during the 2017-2018 school year.

Finally, the Senate, working with the House, passed a bill to extend the congressional filing deadline until February 7th in light of ongoing negotiations between the House and Senate.

Next week, the Governor’s Budget Director will be appearing in front of the Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee to discuss the Governor’s budget proposal. I have concerns that even though the state faces almost a billion dollar shortfall, the Governor proposed $815 million in additional spending, including $372 million in existing debt service.

On a final note, I am now the primary sponsor of Senate Bill 50 which would make pseudoephedrine prescription-only in order to cut down on meth labs. This is similar to the bill I sponsored last year. Senator Tom Jensen took the lead during this session. He is truly passionate about the issue. So passionate, that when a few media started to question his motives because at some point, before he even became senator, he represented Operation Unite in a court proceeding, Sen Jensen in order to avoid even a whisper of conflict of interest, voluntarily withdrew as primary sponsor. Sen Jensen is a dedicated public servant and a man of integrity. I am proud to call him my friend. He will continue to advocate for the bill as will I.

Dr. Diana Brandenburg has visited the kindergarten classes once per week. She taught the students different medical instruments and their purpose. She taught them the importance of getting vaccinations and what they should expect when they visit the doctor’s office to get their shots. She also taught them the need to wash your hands throughout the day. She informed the students about the dangers of second-hand tobacco smoke along with so much more great information.

The children were all eager to learn. They were quizzed and required to answer questions on the information received in the course.

OUT-OF-THE-PAST

Dear Tammy,

This picture was taken in the mid 1940's of a raid on a moonshine still in Jackson County, Kentucky. The man dipping the "shine" is Sheriff Joe Pence, who was a three-term sheriff in Jackson County-one term in the 1930's and two in the 1940's, if I remember correctly. During his terms, many stills were demolished.

The hatless man in the middle, standing in the back, wearing a holstered weapon and looking down is my maternal grandfather, Deputy Green Powell. Elihu Lakes and Shelton Harrison were also deputies and may have been in on this raid if they served with Sheriff Pence at this time.

The other people in the picture are unknown to me. Hopefully someone will recognize or know them, and maybe know whose still it was.

I believe this will be of interest to many readers who enjoy things from the past.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Turner

TRUE VINE

INSPIRATIONAL THOUGHTS INTO GOD’S WORD

Author: Lynette Hunter truevinebook.com

Matthew 1-15, Luke 7:19-28, Romans 8:28

Our expectation and personal desire can block our view of our divine purpose. The unique and personal anointing John the Baptist had on his life is beyond words. If anyone ever had a Holy Spirit of fire within them, it was him. The explosion of his great ministry revealed his deep belief in the coming Messiah, who was so near they could reach out and touch Him. To realize that only one person had the calling to be the forerunner of Jesus Christ helps us understand why John the Baptist had such a deep passionate visionary belief embedded in him. The years of his preparation seem like many compared to his short ministry, which was powerful, pure, and honest. His life was dedicated to God and did ultimately fulfill God’s purpose; however, because he was also a human being he would feel offended. Through physical eyes, there is no way to determine life here on earth is fair. Through spiritual eyes, God is a fair and just God, omnipotent and loving, with amazing grace available and abundant for all. John the Baptist had been set aside from birth to, at the appointed time, preach, proclaim, and set the stage (so to speak) for the mighty, powerful changing ministry of Jesus Christ. Because he didn’t compromise Herod’s sin, he was put in prison, where he could only hear about the divine miracles and teachings that Jesus was performing. It is mortally justifiable why he became impatient and confused concerning his yearlong imprisonment. His feeling of seclusion overrode the self-worthiness of his awesome ministry, including the distinctive honor of baptizing Jesus, our sacrificial Lamb of God. Jesus highly commended John the Baptist and spoke of him as being the greatest prophet born among women. As children of God, we are so greatly blessed by Him, yet it is a common feeling to be dissatisfied. Admittedly, we will not get everything we want or our way all the time. Our God is a fair and impartial Father; He will supply our needs and is faithful to His promises. When we submit to Him, His purpose for our life will be fulfilled. There will be times we don’t understand what God is doing and feel offended; however, our personal feelings shouldn’t interfere with God’s purpose and we must continue to trust that in all circumstances, He is faithfully working all things to our good.

As Liza Jane sat in the chair ready to write, she felt herself smiling as she picked up the pen. Liza was flooded with memories of her mother and those memories made her happy. She was not sleepy, but felt totally relaxed from her head to her toes.

September 3, 2010

Dear Jessie,

Today I was reminded of what a wonderful mother I had growing up. Daddy made a fine supper tonight, and he was wearing Mommy’s old apron as he cooked. She had several different styles of aprons, but she only chose to wear this one in particular. I am so thankful to have had my mother with me until she was eighty years old. Maybe I will be wearing that old apron someday too!

We had the happiest day today! I can hardly explain how fast the time goes each day. We are busy and yet we are relaxing often also. Remember me telling you how fast my days would pass while I was teaching? I would start the day, then it was lunchtime and a few blinks later it would be time to put the students on the bus and another day had passed. We have tasks to complete and things to accomplish, but we laugh our way through the day while working on those tasks. I even hung out a load of wash on the clothes line today! I haven’t done that since it was my chore as a teenager! I am enjoying the small moments and I am learning to relax more each day. While we were riding in Jake’s truck, Daddy started to tell a story and stopped midstream and just looked out the window. I didn’t ask why and neither did Jake, we just let it pass without any reaction. Daddy remains so happy and upbeat, that most of the time I forget he is dealing with a debilitating disease. I have been reading quite a lot of information about Alzheimer’s disease, and this type of occurrence is par for the course I suppose. I can tell that Jake is aware that Daddy has the disease, but I sense that he views it the same way that I do. I am not going to worry about what is happening to Daddy, nor am I going to worry about tomorrow. I have learned at this stage of my life that I have little to no control over most events. We are planning to hit the local flea markets tomorrow to see what “treasures” we can find! Jake says there is a beautiful waterfall he wants to show me on our way to one of the flea markets. I am supposed to pack us a lunch to take with us so I guess I will have to figure that out in the morning.

It is warm here, so I am just wearing pedal pushers and a t-shirt each day. I am starting to dose off, so I will turn in for the night.

With love,
Liza Jane

Unemployment rates still highest in county

Most Kentucky counties are reporting a decrease in unemployment.

The Kentucky Office of Employment and Training says 114 counties reported that jobless rates fell from December 2010 to December 2011. Six counties reported an increase in unemployment during the same time period.

Woodford County had the lowest unemployment rate at 6.1 percent, followed by Fayette County at 6.5 percent and Boone County at 6.9 percent.

Jackson County had the highest jobless rate at 15.2 percent, followed by Fulton County at 14.9 percent at Magoffin County at 14.4 percent.

The statistics are based on estimates and don't include people who haven't looked for a job in the last four weeks.

Generals give best teams in region all they can handle

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter
In collaboration with Greg Parrett
Head Coach, JCHS Generals

Jackson County followed up what was perhaps their biggest win so far this season against Clinton County with another win against Lynn Camp. Red-hot shooting by the Generals highlighted this win. The Generals played hard and put up 91 points for the game while holding their opponent to 65. “It was a complete team effort. Jacob Hammons and Zach Lawson shared the ball well with teammates combining for 12 assists. Adam Duncan added another 4 assists. It was our second best assist total for the year with 22 for the team,” reported Coach Parrett. The Generals out rebounded their opponent 26-24 with Tyler Lunsford and Justin Fox leading the team with 5 rebounds each. Jacob Hammons followed close behind with 4 rebounds. Tyler Lunsford and Zach Lawson each added 3 steals apiece in what was a very good team defensive effort.

Next up for the Generals were the Knox Central Panthers (one of the favorites to win the 13th Region). “I was very proud of the boys. They fought hard. The defensive effort was tremendous and we did a good job battling a much bigger Knox Central team on the boards but came up short on the score board by a score of 44-42,” reported Coach Parrett.

On Monday night the Generals played their third game in 5 days with another regional contender hosting the 19-3 Barbourville Tigers. The Tigers came out on fire hitting nine 3 pointers in the first half to take a fourteen point lead to the locker room at halftime. (The Generals trailed in the first half by 21 points at one time) Shawn Rowland, Tyler Lunsford and Seth Bingham came off the bench in the first half with good defensive pressure and provided a strong presence on the backboards to help the Generals close the gap to 14 before the half. The second half saw the Generals chip away at the Barbourville lead reducing it to only 9 points at the end of the third quarter. By the end of regulation the Generals had fought back to a tie score sending the game to OT. The Generals gave a great effort but came up short by a final score of 65-61. The strong second half was led by seniors Adam Duncan and Justin Fox and sophomore Tyler Lunsford. The Generals were led in rebounding by senior Adam Duncan with 10 rebounds.

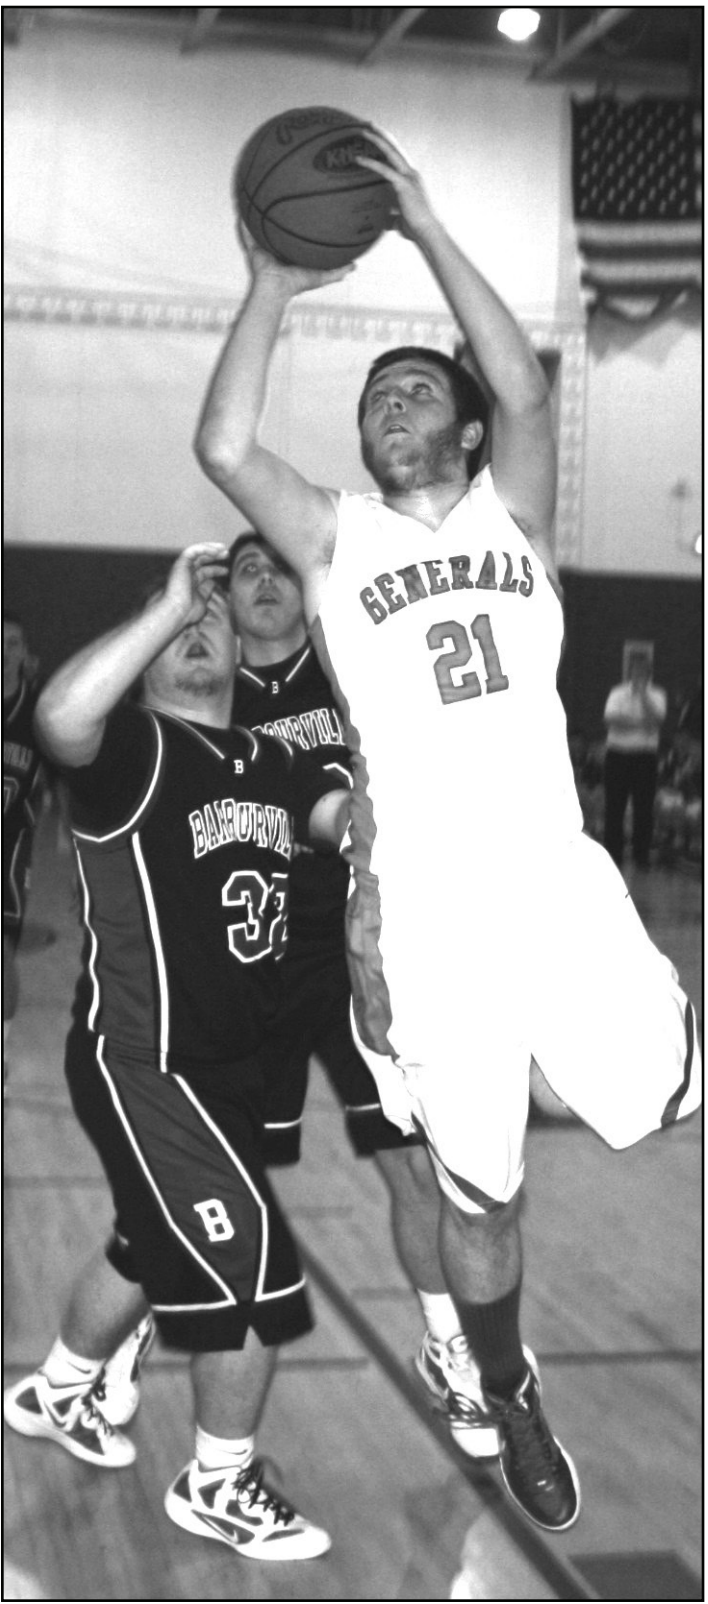

“The Generals have come a long way this season proving they can battle and compete with the best teams in the 13th Region. They have got to learn how to win in the big games. They have to improve shot selection and learn to make great decisions according to time and score. They must continue to improve their team defense and rebounding as we finish up the season. They must believe that not only can they compete with the best in the 13th region but that they can also beat the best teams in the region. We would like to encourage the fans to come out and support these kids. They won’t be disappointed with their effort. Superior crowd support in the next few weeks and during tournament could be the difference in a big game,” reported Coach Parrett.

JCHS Students Broaden Their Cultural Horizons

On Monday, January 23, 2012, over forty Spanish students from Jackson County High School were able to broaden their cultural horizons by visiting the Aguas Calientes sector of Lexington, just off of Versailles Road. The students were able to visit an authentic Mexican bakery, a tortilla factory where the owner gave them a fresh tortilla, hot off the press, an actual Mexican supermarket where they saw novelties such as “patas de pollo” (chicken feet), “buche” (pork stomach) and “chicharron” (homemade pork rinds), as well as an authentic Mexican restaurant where one student even tried “tacos de lengua” (beef tongue tacos). Emmanuel Anama, Spanish teacher at JCHS, stated that field experiences such as these help students to become “Inter-Culturally Competent,” as is mandated by Kentucky’s new standards for World Language Proficiency.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT FROM JACKSON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Jackson County High School will be conducting its final exams for the second trimester on February 2nd (1st, 3rd and 5th blocks) and February 3rd (2nd and 4th blocks). Those students who must complete an end of course assessment (English 10B, United States History B, Probability and Statistics, and Biology B) will do so on February 7th or February 8th. The end of course assessments are part of Kentucky's new accountability system. The EOC's and finals count as twenty percent of the students' final grade; therefore, it is very important for students to be present on these days. If we miss a day because of snow, the schedule will remain the same; however, if there are two or more snow days, the schedule may be amended.

Ender’s Game

by Orson Scott Card
Review by Julia Tillery

Few authors are bold enough to write a story as serious, dark, or complex as Orson Scott Card’s sci-fi novel Ender’s Game. Set in the future where Earth is preparing for war with an alien species called the ‘Buggers’, the Russian Government trains children that show promise both physically and mentally for war. After watching hundreds of children, a six year old boy named Ender Wiggin is selected to be Earth’s one hope for survival.

Ender is separated from his family and sent into space to attend Battle School. While aboard the ship, Ender was constantly being bullied and he almost beat a boy to death during the trip. This brought Ender praise from Commander Graff who continually singled out Ender boasting about how smart Ender was compared to the other boys. In the end, this leads to another physical attack. Ender breaks the arm of one of his attackers and is yet once again praised by the commander. He soon realizes that Graff shows him favoritism on purpose so the other boys would resent him.

At the battle school, Ender fears that he’s becoming like his older, abusive bother Peter. Peter had hated Ender since he was a Third, an almost illegal child due to the population laws, and because Ender was smarter than him. The next day, Ender and his platoon is sent to a zero-G chamber to fight another team. Ender’s natural talent moves him up in rank faster than any kid before him. This accomplishment earns Ender a greenhorn team, isolation, and death threats.

Ender’s game is an exciting tale that isn’t afraid to hold back because of the age of the protagonist. Ender, a kid that’s been denied his childhood, is easy to empathize with as he is pushed to his limits. The other characters have their own depth, falling between the good and bad category. The novel can be enjoyed by anyone that is a fan of sci-fi with a few dark twists.
